SCD Holds Stakeholders' Event

The Ghana Supply Chain Development (SCD) program organized a one day Stakeholder Event on Wednesday, 31st May, 2017. The Event brought together all stakeholders of the program to discuss “The journey so far” of the SCD and strategies for sustaining the program. The event also provided the platform for SMEs to network with Business Service Providers (BSPs) who exhibited their products and services as well as reaffirmed their commitments to support SMEs to grow even after the final close-out of the SCD program.

Participating SMEs had the opportunity of meeting International Oil Companies like Tullow Oil Ghana Limited and GE Oil and Gas. They were provided with information on a wide range of subjects including how they can position themselves to attract investors and other available opportunities in the industry.

Invited guests included USAID’s Economic Growth Office Director, Kevin Sharp, Mrs. Pearl Coleman-Ackah, Private Sector Advisor/Outreach Director Economic Growth Office at USAID Ghana and PYXERA Global’s Country Director, Ms. Barbara Gbolagah-Quaye.

During his speech Mr. Kevin Sharp indicated that the USAID, alongside the Government of Ghana and development partners, is working to ensure local businesses operating in the oil and gas sector are well equipped with the necessary knowledge to prosper and thrive.

He acknowledged the Ghana Supply Chain Development Program in organizing this event and bringing all stakeholders together to directly engage, forge strong partnerships and network. “Our joint efforts are truly helping to bridge the gap between the government and Ghanaian businesses in the oil and gas sector.” – Kevin Sharp.

In his speech, Mr. Abdul-Karim Adam, Local Content Development Professional at Petroleum Commission highlighted that through Local Content activities, 840 companies comprising of 488 fully indigenous, 52 Indigenous, 105 Joint Ventures and 195 foreign companies have taken opportunities in the Upstream Sector.

Other speakers included representatives from the Ministry of Energy, Tullow Oil Ghana Limited and GE Oil & Gas who were all in attendance
